Leyte Yanks Grab 2d Isle Allies Blasting Way to Antwerp

By Associated Press
American Liberators of 11 towns in the central Philippines drove ahead on Leyte Island today through almost impassable muck and bitterly resisting Japanese, according to C. Yates McDaniel, AP correspondent at the front.

Press dispatches from the front to the Melbourne Herald in Australia reported an American tank column had established a bridgehead on Samar island, the link between Leyte and Luzon islands.

The Herald's correspondent, Blaine Fielder, reported the tank column was ferried across narrow San Juanico strait Monday from a highway point above Tacloban, provincial capital of Leyte and provisional seat of the constitutional Philippines government.

Fielder's dispatch from Tacloban, cleared by military censors, said Gen. Douglas MacArthur capitalized on the rapid advance on northern Leyte to send his troops to the fifth island to be invaded since his return to the Philippines.

Invasion of Samar was not mentioned by other correspondents nor by MacArthur's own communique today.

A road leads up the west coast of Samar from the shores opposite Tacloban to the northern tip, 15 miles southeast of Luzon on which Manila is situated.

U. S. Sixth Army troops moved northwest from Tacloban, at the northern tip of the 20-mile Leyte east coast front, and slid through swamps in the southern sector from Dulag. McDaniel reported muck and slime proved a greater obstacle in the south than did the Japanese, and sometimes it left the advancing Yanks without the support of their tanks.

Palo and Dulag anchored the westbound arms of a potential trap reaching out to engulf Japanese 16th Division elements—the Bataan Torturers—in a 140-square-mile area bounded on the east by the coast and on the west by a valley road from Burauen to Santa Fe.

Marked progress was reported today in a communique on the Dulag south arm toward Burauen. After menacing Nipponese positions in the Catmon hills area were bypassed, Sherman tanks pushed seven miles into the outskirts of San Pablo. That is about three miles from Burauen.

It was a different story at Palo. All Monday night, the Japanese counter-attacked fiercely and it was not until this morning that it was broken bloody.

James Hutcheson, AP man with U. S. troops in Tacloban, reported that fleeing Jap troops contributed large stocks of sake and beer to the Filipinos' celebration of the liberation of Tacloban.

When veteran troops of the First Cavalry Division arrived in the provincial capital a day ahead of the D-day schedule, they were met by deliriously happy Filipinos. The gaily-dressed Filipinos lined the streets and windows, shouting, grinning, waving their hands and flags.

Scores of Filipinos trudged along happily with cases of beer on their heads. Even children carried in. Two 12-year-old girls laughingly carried a case between them.

By WILLIAM FRYE
LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—British troops stormed into the outskirts of the Dutch communications center of Hertogenbosch today and Canadian forces to the west plunged closer to Roosendaal in the blazing battle to clear the Germans from the vicinity of the Belgian port of Antwerp.

A dispatch from supreme headquarters in Paris said Canadian units, fighting to clear the south bank of the Schelde estuary, held the ferry port of Breskens firmly today and were along or across a road all the way to Schoondijk, three miles south of Breskens. The Germans have been squeezed into a pocket in this area.

Demolition patrols which moved a half-mile beyond Breskens to Fort Frederik Hendrik withdrew, presumably leaving that bastion's formidable coastal batteries out of action. Neither side now occupies the fort, the Paris dispatch said.

North of Antwerp Canadian troops cut the causeway leading to the islands in the Schelde estuary.

Along the main 475-mile front facing east toward Germany persistent Allied pressure scored no major gains, and the winter's first widespread snow sharpened the plague of weather which has hampered the Allied armies for weeks.

Front reports indicated the Germans in the Hertogenbosch area were suffering from a lack of artillery support.

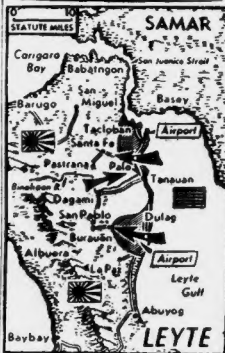

To the west, Canadian troops neared Roosendaal in their drive to flank the German anchor of Bergen Op Zoom. An Allied communique, reporting fresh crossings of the Dutch border north of Antwerp, announced new gains north along the Antwerp-Roosendaal railway.

The sector around Aachen was not active, but to the south German big guns, apparently railway weapons, hurled from 16 to 20 700-pound shells into the Third Army area.

The German radio reported Allied guns were pounding the fortress of Metz with a heavy barrage. Street fighting for possession of Maizières les Metz to the north continued, with the Americans now holding about three-fourths of the town.

The eastward push of Allied troops northeast of Boulogne was continued by forward units which crossed the Mortagne river at several points. The Allied communique said gains were made in the Vosges Mountains against "stiff resistance."

Activity on the American First Army front was limited to mopping up in the Wurselen area northeast of Aachen yesterday.

PHILIPPINES—Yank forces today are reported to have made a second Philippine landing, pushing across the San Juanico strait from Leyte north to Samar. Meanwhile, extending beachheads between Tacloban and Palo, Americans now have the entire coastal road under their control.

Reds Spring at Junkers Land

By DANIEL DE LUCE
MOSCOW, Oct. 24 (AP)—Russian penetration of German territory to a depth of at least 19 miles in East Prussia was proclaimed today in the first Moscow announcement of a powerful Red army offensive that already has captured 400 Nazi towns and villages.

Gen. Bagramian's First Baltic army cleared the way to spring into the homeland of the Junkers from the north and may already have done so.

Yanks Near Key Po Valley Town

By LYNN HEINZERLING
ROME, Oct. 24 (AP)—American Fifth Army troops approached today within four miles of Castel San Pietro, large Po valley junction town of the Rimini highway 13 miles southeast of Bologna. Thick mine fields, demolitions and barbed wire entanglements held up another force advancing on dominating Monte Belmonte. British forces battling along Highway 67 in the sector to the east pushed beyond the road junction of Portico on the way to Forli.

Nazis Battle Big RAF Essen Raid

Hitler's Baby-Boy Snipers Offer U. S. Big Problem

By LEE CARSON

WITH U. S. FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY, Oct. 24 (INS)—Four German "baby snipers"—boys from 8 to 14 who shot at an American artillery crew near the German town of Brand—will be tried by a military court-martial, headquarters announced today.

For the first time an American military court will try children of grammar school age on a charge which carries the death penalty. Their parents may "stand in" for them at the proceedings, but it is the guilt or innocence of these four lads that will be determined.

The four are Hubert, only 10 years old but tough ring-leader of the group, and his three brothers—Willy, 14; Bernhard, 12, and Victor, 8. All are now in military custody, charged with firing at the Yank artillerymen and resisting capture with a hail of fire from an American Garand and a German rifle.

All four are members of the Hitler Youth Movement and all four are outstanding examples of "born and bred" Nazis—arrogant, tricky, sub-intelligent, and killers. Hubert, spokesman for the band of infant murderers, said:

"We found American and German rifles lying together in a ditch. We were not shooting at American soldiers—just into the woods. They happened to be there."

An American M. P. guard-into an artillery crew and corrected this story.

"They were sniping directly at an artillery crew and came close to getting them, too," he said.

"When a couple of our soldiers went up the hill to capture or kill the snipers, these kids kept firing as they advanced. At the last minute they threw down the guns and ran."

"One soldier who spoke German called on them to halt or he would shoot. They stopped."

The Americans were amazed to discover the snipers were "knee-high" school children. They had believed them to be either German soldiers who had infiltrated back through the lines or Nazi party members.

It's going to be a long, long war if Hitler has fixed up all his kids like these—long and tough," the M. P. said, fixing the four boys with a puzzled frown. The "nursery Nazis" returned his look, a shifting glare of pure hate underlying their superior smirk.

Hubert, stocky and blond and dressed in a blue ski suit with suspenders and a black Nazi cap, shot a glance at the M. P. and laughed abruptly.

"I know what he's laughing at," the soldier said. "I brought him a coat this morning because his cell was darned cold. He threw it in my face."

Willy, biggest of the four, has a close-cropped head. He has a husky, harsh voice and no hesitation in stating that he learned how to use firearms in the Hitler Jugend.

The two youngest brothers are small for their age but cocky. All four are unbelievable to American eyes. They are a product of Hitler that is going to be with us long after the smoke of battle has lifted in Europe.

The parents of these brothers are weeping martyrs to a cause they obviously believe just. Hitler has done a thorough job here.

Teacher Denies Peril to School

Assertion in the Strayer survey of Boston schools that the safety of pupils in the Hemenway school in Readville was menaced by the proximity of a large oil and gasoline storage station was attacked today as "outright misrepresentation" by Miss Marie Burke, teacher in charge.

The school was one of 35 which the portion of the report released yesterday recommended should be closed.

"In reaching this conclusion about the Hemenway School," Miss Burke said, "those making the survey apparently depended on a report of conditions four or more years ago because the oil and gasoline storage plant has been closed and dismantled."

Miss Burke said she had checked with an official of the Standard Oil Co. today and was informed the stock at the plant had been moved out in October, 1939, and that the storage tanks and equipment were dismantled and shipped to New Jersey in March, 1940.

"Since then the property has been sold to A. A. Land Co., movers and riggers," she said. "In addition 15 new homes have been built there, one of them less than 100 feet from where the storage tanks were located. Certainly, no one would deliberately build a home near a 'fire hazard.' There is no fire hazard there, and hasn't been for more than four years."

In its report, the Strayer survey declared: "A great fire hazard is always present at this school. An old wooden two-story structure and two portables, situated directly across a narrow street from a large oil and gasoline storage station. The safety of the pupils is menaced by the proximity of this

SARGENT STRIKE WAITS ON MEETING

With a strike of more than 400 students pending on the outcome, attorneys representing the school's founder and the student body were scheduled to meet today with President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University to protest renaming famed Sargent College as the B. U. School of Physical Education.

Atty. Alfred Gardner represents Mrs. Frank Lyman of Highland st., Cambridge, granddaughter of Dudley Allen Sargent, the school's founder. When Mrs. Lyman's father, the late Lydard Sargent, presented Sargent College to Boston University in 1929, one of the provisions was that the name Sargent be perpetuated.

Mrs. Lyman announced she was not satisfied with the decision of the B. U. trustees to call one of the school buildings Sargent Hall. Her attorney, a 1912 B. U. graduate, declared he believed "sensible men can sit down and iron things out."

The students, who took a strike vote and were dissuaded from carrying it out pending today's conference, are insistent the name of Sargent College be retained.

girls are Helen G. Hines, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hines of Morse st., and Lorraine E. Diamond, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Diamond of Watertown st. Each is a fifth grade pupil.

Most baffling angle to police, they said today, was the fact that the girls dropped from sight in the short distance between their neighboring homes and the school in California st. Their parents said neither girl ever had been away from home before.

The Hines girl is described as 4 ft., 10 in. tall, and weighs 80 pounds. She has light brown hair and blue eyes and was wearing a red dress, tan sweater and multicolored bathskwa. Lorraine, 4 ft. tall and weighing 75 pounds, was dressed in a red and gray jacket and wore a blue kerchief over her head. She has chestnut hair and blue eyes.

Police said they had checked at the homes of relatives and friends of the two families in various sections of Greater Boston, but the girls had not called at any of them.

Boy, 17, by Enlisting Loses $146,000 Willed by Uncle

(Special to the Boston Evening American)

CHICAGO, Oct. 21—George L. Williamson, 17, of Chicago, kicked away $146,000—just like that.

He did it by enlisting in the Army Air Forces Reserve Corps. By that simple patriotic act, he voluntarily gave up $146,000 bequeathed him by a great-uncle, whose will specified that if the youth was a member of the armed forces, the money would be divided among five other heirs.

Young Williamson was nonchalant about the matter. He said:

"I never really had the money so it doesn't feel bad to lose it. Anyway, the government would have got 80 per cent of it."

Young Williamson is one of the four full colonels of the Chicago

Herald-American Junior Victory Army, in charge of the great youth organization's south side division.

The youth, who will be 18 in December, would have received the money when he attained his majority. The great-uncle who made the strange proviso in his will was Franklin J. Levitt, who died in New Jersey last August.

foreign policies, will tell a nationwide radio audience tonight that huge pre-Pearl Harbor shipments of American scrap iron and oil to Japan constituted a major blunder on the part of the present administration.

The Republican nominee, whose Minneapolis speech tonight will be broadcast between 8:30 and 9 EWT, announced that it will serve to jog President Roosevelt's memory "on large areas of recent history."

He cancelled plans for a farm talk in order to reply while the matter is fresh, to the President's Saturday night speech on foreign affairs, in which the latter took sharp issue with the Dewey charges that the Roosevelt administration failed to prepare the nation for war.

"Mr. Roosevelt, I am afraid, took his history out of context," Gov. Dewey told reporters at a press conference aboard his train. "His memory seems to have failed him on large areas of recent history. So, I'll fill in this gap in my Minneapolis speech."

One of the items of recent history Gov. Dewey intends to dwell upon is the shipping of scrap iron and oil to a nation already plotting the sneak attack at Pearl Harbor.

Cahill, Tobin Vie For Big Labor Vote

By FRANK REILLY

Declaring that his background is such as to give him the deepest understanding of the problems of the laboring man and woman, Lt. Gov. Cahill pledged today, "As Governor I shall continue to fight for the best interests of labor."

"That is why so many of the officials and the rank and file of labor supported me in my three successful campaigns for lieutenant governor and why they are with me today in the campaign for Governor," the Republican nominee added.

"The laboring man can rest assured that my training and experience will insure the carrying out of plans which we have worked out to provide full time jobs at good wages in Massachusetts after the war. I have given special attention to this problem during the past three years."

"I urge that all citizens, for the best interests of labor, vote for Cahill, Bradford, Saltonstall and the entire Republican ticket." While the Republican contender was pledging his loyalty to the cause of organized labor, his Democratic opponent Mayor Tobin again charged that Cahill has the poorest labor record of any candidate who has sought election to the governorship in our generation.

Tobin, continuing his western Massachusetts campaign tour, declared, "The Republican lieutenant governor has nothing in common with the working man and woman. A study of his record during nearly a decade of public life leaves no course open to the average citizen but to reject him."

The dispute over Lt. Gov. Cahill's labor record has become one of the major issues of the campaign. Cahill in his own defense stressed today that he helped lead the battle for passage of legislation to make the yellow dog contract illegal.

Other labor measures which he supported and which are now law, he said, are the minimum wage law for women and children, and the peaceful picketing bill.

Mayor Tobin today predicted that Massachusetts will become a pioneer state in air transportation after the war. "It is my firm and definite determination to make Massachusetts a leader in air transportation after the war," he said. "A tremendous use of commercial planes for passenger and cargo transportation and of privately owned planes for business and pleasure will follow the close of hostilities."

"For that reason a comprehensive program for the construction of an integrated series of airports throughout the state should be prepared now. No Massachusetts community must be more than a 30-minute drive from an airport."

"New fields must be constructed and present facilities expanded. Massachusetts, under my leadership as Governor, will be a pioneer state in post-war aviation."

The Mayor will speak tonight at rallies in Southbridge, Webster and Blackstone, and during the day was to speak briefly at meetings in Northbridge, Uxbridge, Dudley, Oxford, Sturbridge, Sutton, Millville, Charlton and Mendon.

Lt. Gov. Cahill will speak tonight at Hotel Beaconsfield, Brookline.

Francis E. Kelly, former lieutenant governor and candidate for attorney general, in campaign speeches last night charged his Republican opponent voted two consecutive years against allowing women of Massachusetts the right to vote.

He further charged that Clarence Barnes, the Republican candidate, voted against legislation providing students might get a law degree by evening study, as well as being absent fully 50 per cent of the time on roll calls.

"How can Barnes expect any intelligent woman, no matter what her party affiliation, to vote for him on election day?" Kelly asked.

'NEGLECTED MEN' WIN BRICKER PLEA

By E. E. EASTERLY

PUEBLO, Col., Oct. 24 (AP)—Gov. Bricker today pictured the white collar worker and the farmer as "The Neglected Men" of America, and said that for the sake of the nation's economic and social stability something must be done for them.

"They have been outraged by government extravagance, dictation, and the double-talk of New Dealers," the Republican nominee for vice-president asserted in a prepared speech released by his campaign staff.

"They accept all this as a part of the war program—but they expect government to have some plans for them when the war is over. They do not want to be neglected forever."

The Ohio Governor wound up his two-day bid for Colorado's six electoral votes with stops also at Colorado Springs, Walsenburg and Trinidad.

In his Pueblo speech Bricker said that the New Deal in its youth talked much about The Forgotten Man, although "no one quite knew who he was supposed to be."

He asserted that the "experimenters and the planners" told "The Forgotten Man" that the government owed him a living but did nothing to provide him a productive job with good pay."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt will deliver a major campaign speech in Chicago some time after his Friday appearance in Philadelphia's Shibe Park.

Presidential Secretary Early told reporters today he did not have the date. However, Chicago's Mayor Kelly has announced a big Democratic rally for that city next Saturday.

Early made no reference to other appearances by the President, but both Boston and Cleveland are regarded as likely appearance spots for Mr. Roosevelt. Most campaign observers believe Chicago will be the most western point for the President's campaigning.

Truman Repeats His Challenge

WITH TRUMAN EN ROUTE TO MADISON, Wis., Oct. 24 (AP)

—Sen. Truman carried into the Republican-claimed Wisconsin today his challenge to Gov. Dewey to rid his party of eight Republican Senators he called isolationists.

As President Roosevelt's fourth term running mate he will hammer home this challenge at every opportunity, he said, in the belief that foreign policy is the most important issue in this election.

Truman called upon Dewey to repudiate Republican Sens. Taft, Ohio; Nye, North Dakota; Tobey, New Hampshire; Dinnah, Connecticut; Wiley, Wisconsin; Keck, Kansas; Davis, Pennsylvania; and Milliken, Colorado.

Girl Resumes Cafe Theft Story

The admitted sweetheart of one of two defendants charged with larceny of $8000 from the Punchbowl Cafe in Stuart St., last May, resumed her testimony for the state in Suffolk superior court today at the trial of John J. Raposa, alias Ananias, her admirer, and Franklin Lajoie of Bridgeport, Ct.

Chestnut-haired Joan Carpenter of Dorchester ave. told in tears how Raposa came to her room this morning after the robbery and told her he had a lot of money which he got at the Punchbowl.

She then testified that he took her on a trip to Bryanville on the Cape for three weeks and paid all the expenses, and that later they went to California together on the train.

They were living in California at Bellflower, she said, when a Boston police inspector arrived and arrested Raposa.

Dodge Heir's Bridal Waits Only on Dad as Best Man

DENVER, Oct. 21 (AP)—The heir to one of America's largest automobile fortunes, Cpl. Horace E. Dodge III, and his fiancée, Margery Gehman, awaited today arrival of the corporal's father, heartened by the news that he had withdrawn his objections to their proposed marriage.

Maj. Horace E. Dodge, Jr., father of the 21-year-old Lower Field corporal, said yesterday in Stamford, Ct., before leaving for Denver, he no longer objected. Asked if he would act as his son's best man, he replied, "I believe I will if I am asked."

Cpl. Dodge and Miss Gehman, daughter of a professor of mathematics at Buffalo, N. Y., University, said they would wait until Maj. Dodge arrived then proceed with the wedding, with or without his consent. It formerly was planned for today.

"We really can't understand the major's stand," Miss Gehman said. "He has spent very little time with his son—it's quite an unusual family, you know—and he has met me. I dined with him once at a hotel in New York, and I met him again at his daughter's wedding." She said she had heard nothing

4 of 7 Navy Sons Attend Funeral of Mrs. O'Brien

Four of the seven Navy sons of Mrs. Edward W. O'Brien knelt before her bier today in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Medford, while two failed to get here in time, and the seventh had to kneel alone, thousands of miles away in the South Pacific.

In prayer at the church were: Richard, 31, and Paul, 21, seamen 1c, who had transferred from the same vessel in mid-Atlantic to a ship that sped them homeward.

Joseph, 33, a ship's cook, stationed near Boston.

Walter, 27, who came home from boot training at Sampson, N. Y.

Absent were Thomas, 26, boat-swatch mate 2-c, on a far Pacific station, and John, 23, a ship's cook, who arrived in Florida only yesterday, hoping he could make the last leg of his sad journey in time. Absent, too, was Leo, 19, seaman 1-c, who left England by plane Saturday an hour after his mother died.

Their mother's remains were taken from their home in Fells-Water, where a flag with seven searage stars told its brave message. Until the last minute, Edward O'Brien was at the window, hoping to see others of his sons arrive.

The casket was born into the church between two rows of the United War Mothers of America, Chapter 1, of Medford.

Friends of the family lingered outside the church in small groups trusting they might see another O'Brien son coming to pay his final respects. But travel difficulties had been insurmountable to the three sailors.

The church was filled with city officials, delegations from veterans' organizations, representatives of the First Naval District and many mothers with sons overseas in the armed services.

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. Paul H. Doherty. Rev. Joseph A. Mulligan was deacon and Rev. John A. Donovan subdeacon. In the sanctuary was Lt. T. H. McManus, Navy chaplain.

Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford, where Edward O'Brien's grief overcame him as he stood with his four sons and prayed that by some miracle the others would still arrive.

The father was supported by his sister, Mrs. Agnes Casey, and his son, Joseph, as Fr. Doherty read the committal service.

A large throng had gone to the cemetery with the funeral cortege. Among those who stood in tribute to the mother who had given her country seven fighting men was Mayor Walter E. Lawrence and many city officials.

The United War Mothers of America were led by Mrs. Margaret Hansen, vice-president of the Medford chapter and former president.

Pallbearers included three members of Navy Post 297 of the American Legion, Warren A. Vass, James Kelliher and John Manning.

Serving with them were Ernest Appleby of Brighton Post No. 17 of the American Legion, Rep. Dennis J. Sullivan of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a sailor, John T. Steele, seaman 1c, a shipmate of Joseph O'Brien.

No. Quincy Man Blasts Nazi Tank

WITH U. S. INFANTRY, Wurselen, Germany, Oct. 21 (AP)—A sharp-shooting staff sergeant with a promotion and a cigar-smoking private who fired a tommy-gun left-handed recently knocked out a powerful Mark V tank which got lost in Yank territory while heading for the battle of Aachen.

Sgt. Claude Sproule, 27 Belmont st., North Quincy, Mass., stopped the tank at 73 yards with four shots from his comparatively puny 57-millimeter gun which, not dug in, bounced around like a Mexican jumping bean.

Pvt. Herman Brown of Ceres, Va., grabbed a tommy-gun and fired at the German crownmen as they spilled from the tank.

R. Adm. McMullen Medical Officer Here

Appointment of R. Adm. Joseph J. A. McMullen as district medical officer of the First Naval District to succeed R. Adm. Richard H. Laning was announced today by the Navy Department.

R. Adm. McMullen, who served as commanding officer at the Chelsea Naval Hospital from July, 1930, to January, 1942, later was in charge of the Pearl Harbor Naval Hospital and was district medical officer at Norfolk, Va., before receiving his new assignment.

R. Adm. Laning has been assigned to new duties in the Pacific theater.

Cash for Votes?

ROSWELL, N. M., Oct. 24 (AP)—Roswell's two daily newspapers, announcing they feel a "community responsibility" to help turn out a sizable vote in the general election, are backing with cash their editorial pleas for readers to go to the polls Nov. 7. Their procedure was to name the towns and county and offer prizes to districts producing the greatest ballots totals, based on percentage of voting strength. The awards will be made through the public schools to parent-teacher associations in the winning districts.

History Award Test Here Set for Dec. 11

Final examinations in the annual William Randolph Hearst National American History Awards in Boston will be held in Faneuil Hall, Monday, Dec. 11, the local committee of educators announced today.

The committee comprises Dr. Arthur L. Gould, superintendent of schools; Rev. William J. Daly, diocesan supervisor of parochial schools; and Francis A. Smith, professor of history, Girls High School history department, who is also president of the Council of History Teachers of the Boston public schools.

Local elimination examinations are to be conducted Thursday, Nov. 30, in public and parochial schools.

The committee also announced these will consist of 20 questions on American history and the writing of an essay, the subject to be announced later, of not more than 250 words.

A total of $25,000 in war bond prizes will be distributed throughout the 13 cities where Hearst newspapers are sponsoring the patriotic competition. The national first prize will be $2000 in war bonds; second, $1000; third, $500; fourth, $100 each to fifth to ninth place winners, plus $50 each for 10th to 41st. A total of $3850.

In addition, the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser will award $1000 in local prizes, as well as a $100 set of American history books to the school producing the winning pupil.

Local awards in war bonds will be: First, $200; second, $100; third, $75; fourth, fifth and sixth, $50; seventh to 25th, $25 each.

Cocker's Choice

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Municipal Judge Jacob M. Braude's decision on the ownership of a cocker spaniel was upheld—by the dog.

Originally the dog belonged to Miss Elaine Kline, who told Judge Braude she lent him to Mrs. Maude Foraker, who contended the dog had been given to her.

After Judge Braude decided, legally, in favor of Miss Kline he tested his ruling. Separating Miss Kline from Mrs. Foraker, he let the dog take his choice. He headed straight for Miss Kline.

UNITED AIR LINES will soon be a partner of New England, and will be a neighborly type of company. We would like you to know more about us. Our story is completely told in a 32-page booklet: "THE STORY OF UNITED AIR LINES," which is yours for the asking.

United Air Lines, in bringing the Main Line Airway to New England when additional equipment is available, will give Boston and Hartford the experience of a veteran company in airline transportation. For the famous Main Line Airway of United was the nation's first, and for ten years, only coast-to-coast airway.

United is a closely knit organization of several thousand men and women who believe in air transportation and who are working together to see that it reaches its maximum utility as an instrument of progress in the coming Age of Flight.

The Main Line Airway, blazing directly across the heart of the nation, follows the strategic route of pioneers. Rich in history, famed for its scenery, it serves the major business and recreational centers of the country.

Dig Out Jap Navy

WITH ADMIRAL HALSEY IN PACIFIC, Oct. 21 (Delayed) (Via Navy radio) (INS)—Adm. Halsey today hurled another derisive taunt at the imperial Japanese fleet, declaring it wouldn't make any difference now whether it finally comes out to fight or stays in hiding.

"We may have to go in and dig them out," said Halsey, who emphatically added:

"If necessary, we'll do just that!"

Neck-Deep Mud, Not Japs, Worst Yank Foe on Leyte

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WITH 24TH CORPS ON LEYTE FRONT, Philippines, Oct. 24 (AP)—Mud, not Japanese, has proved the principal foe of the 96th Division in this southern sector, with men struggling almost neck deep through the slime in their efforts to reach and kill the scattered defenders retreating before them.

Armor in some sectors has bogged down completely. One patrol advancing through deep swamps near Catmon hill, left vehicles behind and plunged ahead without the support of their tanks. Men jumped from clump to clump of wiry swamp grass only to sink shoulder deep. They are pulled ahead by ropes in the hands of their comrades.

Everyone digs in by late afternoon for another miserable night in foxholes. Then comes the daily downpour and everyone tries to bail out 18 inches of water and slime before crawling down into the muck for the night.

That is the war as we have seen it so far on the southern part of the Leyte front.

Conflicting Claims Fog Spanish Revolt

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Conflicting reports of armed clashes in Spain reached London today and it was not yet clear whether the action involved only frontier skirmishes or an organized and formidable revolt against Franco's regime.

Official quarters said they had no information confirming reports of a general uprising. A strong, well-equipped Maquis forces, including a high percentage of Spanish Republicans, were admittedly in southwestern France near the Spanish border.

Spanish Republican headquarters here said the guerrillas were active in three major provinces of Spain—Galicia, in the northwest; Estremadura, in the southwest; and Andalusia, in the south.

Franco's Spanish national radio told of clashes between regular Spanish troops guarding the frontier and "several groups of Spanish Reds" from France, but sought to create the impression that the situation was well in hand, with most of the rebels surrendering or fleeing back across the French border.

The German radio said 4000 "Reds" already had been killed in the frontier fighting.

Aircraft Workers Quitting Coast Plant

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—The manpower shortage in this war industry area will jump from 25,000 to 35,000 this week as Douglas Aircraft Co. steps up production schedules. H. R. Harnish, War Manpower Commission director, has announced.

Harnish said the aircraft industry has lost 70,000 workers since the first of the year, with from 6000 to 12,000 workers leaving this area monthly. A survey has been instituted to determine where they go and why.

3 Yrs. Not AWOL

WITH THE FIRST CAVALRY ON LEYTE, Oct. 22 (Delayed) (AP)—Sgt. Antonio Maringo, U. S. Army Filipino scout, reported for duty today at division headquarters for the first time in nearly three years. He hasn't been AWOL.

He was captured by the Japanese on Luzon; escaped; fled to Tacloban in Leyte where he lived as a civilian until the Americans returned. Then he took his uniform out of hiding and reported for duty.

He had a happy reunion with Col. Charles Sheldon of El Paso, Tex. Sheldon and Maringo served together in the islands between 1935 and 1937.

White Russian On Trial in Paris

PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Boris Theodosienko, a White Russian, accused of working for Germans during occupation, went on trial today after a Paris journalist, George Suarez, was condemned to death in the first collaborationist prosecution.

Suarez appealed the death sentence, imposed for his collaborationist editorials in the daily publication Aujourd'hui during the German occupation.

Paris newspapers generally expressed the sentiment "justice was done" in his six-hour trial Monday.

Council Praises Buddy Gift Drive

The City Council has passed unanimously a resolution commending the Hearst newspapers in Boston for the successful conduct of the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas Campaign. Introduced by Councilor Joseph M. Scannell, it reads:

"Whereas, the campaign to provide Christmas gifts for soldiers, sailors, and marines and members of the coast guard overseas has just been brought to a close, be it:

"Resolved: That the Boston City Council in meeting assembled hereby extends its hearty congratulations to the Boston Evening American, the Daily Record and Sunday Advertiser for the campaign which was so successfully conducted in behalf of the boys, and likewise commends business establishments and public utility companies for remembering their employees who are in the armed forces overseas, and, in addition, extends its commendation to the various committees, organizations, and individuals who assisted in making this 1944 Christmas campaign a success."

Do horses have a postwar plan?

If they don't, they'd better get busy on one! New postwar cars will put many of them out of a job.

And when new materials become available, many commercial signs are going to be as out-of-date as the horse and buggy.

Right now the Donnelly plant is almost wholly engaged in war work. But wartime research has turned up some revolutionary possibilities for sales-making signs, and Donnelly designers are doing a lot of smart thinking about them. To businessmen, we have two suggestions for your action right now.

1. Start planning today to identify your business with up-to-the-minute signs after the war. Already many leading executives are consulting with us, to get a competitive head start with their postwar signs. When the rush starts, it will be first come, first served. We suggest that you establish a priority with us now.

2. Keep your present sign in good repair. With materials and manpower so scarce, you can't get a new one until the war is over.

Bethlehem-Hingham Shipyard Workers Set the Pace for Greater Boston's Industrial Firms in the 1945 United War Fund Drive

The Bethlehem Hingham Shipyard is engaged in the manufacture of destroyer escorts, landing craft, and other navy vessels.

Nowhere in the Boston area is there any enterprise more vital to the winning of the war. Few companies can equal its splendid record of achievement, both in the quantity of ships produced and the quality of their workmanship. Yet the workers and the management found the time to turn in this remarkable performance for the Greater Boston War Fund.

Certainly if these desperately busy men and women have the time to do this magnificent job, no other group of workers or Boston company should be content with a less satisfactory performance for the Greater Boston 1945 United War Fund.

Rubin in Prison, Maps 2 Appeals

Joe Rubin, Boston night club owner, today began a 10 to 15 years' State Prison sentence for the shooting of Guy Formica while his counsel prepared appeals which are to be carried to both the appellate division and the Supreme Court.

Defense Atty. Daniel J. Gallagher said he was reading a Supreme Court appeal on exceptions taken during the eight-day trial, which saw a Suffolk County Superior Court jury return a verdict of guilty on a manslaughter charge after 12½ hours deliberation.

Sentence was imposed by Judge Joseph L. Hurley after Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle had asked that the sentence be substantial.

As at all sessions of the trial Mrs. Loris Formica, widow of the victim sat silent in the courtroom when Judge Hurley imposed sentence.

Stores' Paper Drive Success

With thousands of Boston shoppers carrying their purchases unwrapped, the Retail Trade Board today pronounced the paper conservation of stores and buyers a success.

Another who expressed thanks was John T. Kiley, regional salvage manager of NPK, who said: "The bulk of the nation's paper and pulp still is earmarked for the fighting forces. This leaves only a small quantity available for civilian use, which means there will be an inadequate supply to meet the mounting demand for packaging materials."

MEN, WOMEN OVER 40 RUN DOWN, LISTLESS?

GET NEW PEP, VIM
END THAT TIRED FEELING
Why be tired, nervous, old at 40, just because your body is not getting a sufficient daily amount of iron, iodine and thiamine. At this period in life, "run down" feeling and never realize that an ample supply of these much needed elements may be just what you need. Check up on your diet now. Do you have all the iron, iodine and thiamine you want or are you one of those who may need a little extra help by adding Iron, Iodine and Thiamine to your diet.

OLD AT 40-50-60? Nervous, Irritable?

Old age arrives when the body no longer builds new cells to replace old cells as fast as they wear out. Iron and iodine, important cell building factors, help fight the onset of OLD AGE.

PALE, LISTLESS? WEAK, TIRED?

Radiant, robust, energetic health that makes life really worth while is priceless. If you are pale, listless, and all in, an added supply of Iron, Iodine and Thiamine may be just what you need.

IRON-IODINE THIAMINE

If it is a true restoration of Iron and Iodine plus Thiamine that helps many people enjoy better health so it is hard to overstate the value of this potent combination. No matter how tired you are, you must get enough iron or you cannot have normal strength, energy or endurance.

TEST WITHOUT RISK! Use all the Tablets, according to directions. In a bottle of three, if you do not feel better generally, with more energy and vitality, the rest will be returned to you without cost. Your money will be refunded.

Q—My brother named me beneficiary on his National Service Life Insurance policy. Following his discharge, he dropped his insurance, but later I paid back premiums and have continued payments since. My question is, should I die after him, can my two sisters claim it as next-of-kin? Can I name a beneficiary if I wish to? Also, how is it made payable at death. L. T. Springfield.

A—If your sister would be classed as next-of-kin, and a balance was still due on your brother's policy, they would receive equal share. You cannot designate any beneficiary; only your brother has that right. Payments are based on the age of beneficiary at time of insured's death and paid over a period of either 10 or 20 years.

Q—I am trying to locate my son who is either in the Army or Navy. I haven't seen him since he was five years old; he is now 21. Would you help me to get information or tell me where I could write? M. D. Boston.

A—I suggest that you write both branches of armed forces and give them complete details and last known address of son. For the Army write to Adjutant General, U. S. Army, Washington, D. C. For the Navy, contact Bureau of Navy Personnel, Washington, D. C.

Q—I would like to obtain a copy of my complete medical record in the Army. Would you please tell me where to write for same? J. P. Dorchester.

A—Your medical records are confidential matter and not obtainable just for your own use. Only upon petition and for certain official reasons are they available.

Q—I enlisted in the Navy Dec. 12, 1942, and was discharged in ne, 1944. I didn't receive any asterisk-out pay or even discharge button denoting service World War II. Was it because I enlisted at the age of 17, or was it due to my going AWOL once? I have been overseas and didn't realize what it was all about until now. I went AWOL when only in the service short time, but I was duly punished. Is it too late for me to get these benefits? W. S. Boston.

A—I will have to ask you a question because you do not give facts. What kind of a discharge did you receive? If it was a Bad Conduct (blue) or Dishonorable (yellow), you are not entitled to any benefits. However, if your discharge was under honorable conditions you may apply for asterisk-out pay and button. Because you enlisted at age of 17, giving false date on enlistment paper, is an reason for denying you the benefits of a veteran. Might be a good idea for you to take papers to Navy Personnel Officer, 150 Causeway St., Boston (First Naval District Hq.) where you will get full details.

Questions submitted to Veterans' Friend Editor, Record-American, 5 Winthrop St., Boston 6, Mass., will be answered in this daily column.

COMBAT TEAM

The noted war front artist, Joe Hirsch, went "out on the line" to sketch this New York Central freight train crew in action.

For these men, too, are a "combat team." And, with their fellow railroaders from coast to coast, they've handled three-fourths of all America's vital wartime freight movements.

From that stupendous job, railroad men and women have learned valuable lessons. And those lessons... plus advanced equipment now on New York Central drawing boards... will mean faster, more efficient, often thrifter transportation for almost everything you'll buy or use in the days of peace ahead.

COMIC AND TRAGIC

By BENJAMIN DE-CASSERES

ONE OF the most comic—and pathetic—election maneuvers of this tired and doddering New Deal Administration is the way all its "biggies" and small-fry who are on the stump from Indispensable No. 1 down to Brother Ickes, Comrade Browder and Sidney Hillman are shouting for "free enterprise," "the capitalistic system" and "competition in business."

The greatest conspiracy ever organized in a democracy against free enterprise (and therefore against personal liberty) was that set in motion in 1933 by this Administration and which has now been swept under the carpet on orders from Kremlin-on-the-Potomac.

In proof of this conspiracy by the Roosevelt Administration, Governor Dewey, in his St. Louis speech, performed an inestimable service to the American people in the following three paragraphs:

"It was Winston Churchill who, late in 1937, said, and I quote him: 'The Washington Administration has waged so ruthless a war on private enterprise that the United States . . . is actually at the present moment leading the world back into the trough of depression.'"

"Then Mr. Churchill solemnly added, and this, too, was in 1937: 'Those who are keeping the flag of peace and free government flying in the Old World have almost the right to ask that their comrades in the New World should . . . set an example of strength and stability.'"

"But Mr. Roosevelt ignored the warning. He went on with his war on business and employment. His experiments—his quarrels and his chaos."

"So in 1940 we ended up with 10,000,000 unemployed and it took a war to get jobs under the New Deal."

THAT WAS the judgment of Winston Churchill after viewing the attempt of the Roosevelt Administration to pull down the temple of American individual liberty which was conceived in the Magna Carta, mortised with blood and bone of our Continentals in the American Revolution and finally guaranteed in the Constitution.

Winston Churchill says without mincing words that the Washington (that is, the Roosevelt) Administration waged a "RUTHLESS" war on private enterprise.

And while the whole world was successfully fighting the great depression of 1929 Mr. Churchill charges that President Roosevelt ("The Washington Administration") was leading the world back to the depression.

Yes, then, are the "REACTIONARIES" in the U.S.A.?

Churchill saw from 3000 miles away what most Americans could not see here—that the Roosevelt Administration from the moment it took office in 1933 was dominated by a Communistic, state-enslaving ideology borrowed from Russia and Germany.

Now, today, we have the leaders of the alleged Democratic Party, including the Hillmans, Browners, Marcantonios, Ickeses, Hopkins and Wagners, upholding the red, white and blue flag of free business enterprise as the New Deal stuffs the sickle-and-hammer under the carpet.

IF THE American people make the mistake of voting the New Dealers into a 16-year or 20-year tenure of the White House, THE SICKLE-AND-HAMMER WILL BE DRAGGED OUT AGAIN and the "ruthless war on private enterprise," as Winston Churchill denounced it, will be continued where it left off. For let this sink into the minds of all Americans:

Since 1933 they have been living under an Administration that has followed, with some transparent camouflage, the MOSCOW PARTY LINE.

A safe and a warm and a fine love

Ours! There's nothing on earth to compare;

No rising crescent moon

THE AUTHOR of the above wrote it for her sweetheart who is with the U. S. armed forces in the Pacific area. . . How are you on knowing shades of color? Know what a "warm green" is? I didn't but I looked it up. Reason for this research was that I noted a claim by Col. George D. Gass, expert on color psychology, that a "warm green" used in wallpaper has a cheering and soothing effect on a person. The Colonel further states at one time so many people jumped into the Thames from the Blackfriars Bridge that it was known as "The Suicide Bridge." During this period it was painted black. The color was changed to a "gay spring green." In six months the suicide rate for the bridge dropped 50 per cent.

WIVES: Women weighing between 140 and 160 and from five feet six to five feet nine inches tall are the most skillful at keeping husbands happy, homeloving and healthy. They also make the best mothers. So states a student of the American matrimonial situation. Our H & W Department is checking on this interesting claim.

CHAMPION: In New York State it is a felony to abandon a wife without providing for her support. Hence the New York police departments engage in tracking down wife deserters. The champion missing husband finder of the State is Detective George Lamb of the Borough of Queens, New York City. Mr. Lamb, during his career, has found more than 35,000 missing husbands.

SIDELIGHTS: A Chicagoan suggests Joan Fontaine to play Elizabeth Barrett Browning in a play dealing with the married life of the B's. If a producer wanted to be realistic he could not cast Joan for that part. She is too young.

Mr. B's winning was 41 years old when she became a bride. . . The South African government has arranged to pay the returning soldier $1000 to aid in giving him a start in civilian life. The veteran will also be able to borrow $5000 for five years with no interest charge, providing he wants to go in business for himself.

PLEASE NOTE: Too many otherwise good-looking young women are round shouldered.

If you take the proper steps for preventing your daughter to be so handicapped you will be doing a great thing for her. Nothing adds so much to class in feminine appearance as an erect, graceful carriage like Vera Zorina's. . . San Franciscan tells me his wife's name is Maya and that she is named after Buddha's mother. But he doesn't say why. . . The sales price of the first watch I owned was one dollar. It was a good watch, too. Never owned one that kept better time.

QUESTIONS FROM CLIENTS: Q—How do you pronounce rodeo? A—It is a Spanish word meaning "round-up" and is pronounced "ro-day-no." Q—Has there ever been a race horse named New York? A—Never heard of one. The three greatest horses named after cities were Omaha, Los Angeles and Spokane. Q—In what play did the leading feminine character continuously greet a U. S. Army sergeant with "Hello, Handsome"? A—Easy question. A shame to take a stogie for answering it. Was in "Rain."

ASIDES: A former Penn State College baseball captain now in the U. S. armed forces writes: "I can't go for that soft-ball either. I always have enjoyed the hard clean crack of a baseball and no matter how well one hits a softball it still sounds like a pumpkin." Q—You can be arrested for loud radio playing in New York City. It is prohibited by the sanitary code. I don't mind loud radios so much except when tuned in on talkers.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A Brooklynite, now with the forces in the Pacific Area, claims the Army wife letter-writing championship for his mate. He says she has written him more than 1500 letters in the 18 months he has been in the service. . . Julie Elin, household art expert says: "Men make excellent cooks. They have more patience than women and are more exact and painstaking." (Note: Seems nearly all the experts agree that men are better cooks than women. So why do some restaurants have signs reading: "All women cooks" if it were an advertisement?)

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1941, by King Features Synd., Inc.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—Mrs. Roosevelt's preaching and her personal performances have been so inconsistent that I often turn from her current writings to her autobiography, dated 1937, not with any hope of reconciling the two attitudes but just to marvel, which is one of my hobbies.

"There are many arguments in favor of a year of national service," Mrs. R. wrote on Aug. 26, 1944. "There would be the advantage that young men from all the different groups which make up the citizenship of the nation, would be thrown together. They would know each other, and the differences in background and environment would melt away."

Mrs. Roosevelt has something there, although those Americans who went to public schools all know that children from "all the different groups" are thrown together in the classrooms and in the school-yard.

But neither Mrs. Roosevelt nor her husband ever set foot in a public school and, when she had young ones, she saw to it that neither did they. Mrs. Roosevelt took her Jimmy to Groton where, certainly all the "different groups" are not thrown together, and she speaks of taking Elliott there, after he had had a year at "Buckley," which seems to be a pre-prep school of the Groton social climate and tradition, and, again, of sending young Franklin to "Buckley" and Anna to "Miss Chapin's," and so forth. Did she send her children to these cloisters to meet "all the different groups" or to make sure they wouldn't be contaminated by contact with "all the different groups"?

IN ANOTHER recent writing, Mrs. Roosevelt proposed that all young American girls, as well as the boys, should put in a year of compulsory service in which they would get some training useful in case of war and learn the meaning of citizenship in a democracy. The meaning of this will suggest itself to the parents of young daughters and so, of course, will the difference between the raising of her own daughter and the concept which she now advocates for other people's daughters.

Mrs. Roosevelt's constant emphasis on "citizenship" seems to suggest that she thinks we are not as good citizens as we might be, but with a strong implication that she and her husband, who were kept aloof from the lower classes, never mind the lower middle class, overcame this handicap and became exemplary citizens. Yet, the citizenship of the United States will seem to many of us to have been fairly good down to now, although we may have made some spectacular mistakes at the polls, as Mrs. R. might agree we have.

IN THE economic field, Mrs. Roosevelt again seems inconsistent. There were fortunes on both sides of the family and nobody seems ever to have worked at useful toil.

When Roosevelt was Assistant Secretary of the Navy, in 1914 on $5000 a year, she took with her to Washington "four servants and a nurse and governess." And, before that, when Roosevelt was only a State Senator in Albany at about $1000 a year, where the legislators of "all the different groups" lived in cheap hotels and rooming houses, they took a house and "I brought three servants, besides the nurse."

It was not until the entire family had enjoyed every advantage, luxury and pleasure, including town houses and country estates, yachts, pony carts and European travel, that Mrs. Roosevelt thought of limiting the income of other people to $25,000 a year.

But even then there was still more than a million of the old family fortune left. So, with no income at all, she and her husband could spend at least $1000 a week out of capital, just to enjoy a luxurious life, and pay no tax at all. There has never been an offer to give the fortune away.

ON THE RACIAL question, too, Mrs. R. reveals a contrast. She opposes discrimination in hiring and yet, in her early life story, she tells of a time in Washington when two white servants quit and "I decided it would be much simpler if I took colored servants, which would oblige my having to go to New York to find new white ones. I completely staffed my house with colored servants."

That might sound like discrimination and it certainly doesn't abide by the arbitrary check-board rule which the gracious lady lays down for other employers and workers of today. But, as I say, I am only marveling.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24—Is this fracas over Rosalind Russell starring in the "Sister Kenny" movie to go on forever? Why should Roz, who has been desperately ill from exhaustion largely from her efforts in behalf of the Sister Kenny Foundation, have to take the darts when an official at RKO has said: "The delay in the production has come from script trouble. When the present hurdles are won over, and not before, the picture will be put into production."

Rosalind Russell

Certainly there is no misunderstanding between Roz and RKO on the point—and no pointing. For, in addition to the Sister Kenny film to be made on that lot, they have just bought a new story for her, "Portrait of a Lady," an unproduced play by Alexander King and Chester Erskine. It's a comedy turned over to Robert Fellows for production, but it will not be made until the finished "Sister Kenny" and "Some Call It Love" for Columbia.

THE PART WILL ROGERS

Washington Scene

Illustrated by King Features Syndicate Inc. Reproduction Permitted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 Through a fortuitous chain of circumstances I am in a position to put America, if not the whole world, straight on what seems to be a universal hallucination.

President Roosevelt does not use a long cigarette-holder!

No matter what you have seen in cartoons, or what you think you have seen in photographs and newsreels, the Presidential butt-staffler is a mere four inches!

He hasn't used one longer than that in more than a year. And hardly ever, since he acquired the deplorable habit of smoking, had he ever used one longer than six inches.

For some occult reason, the Presidential weed-waggle constitutes an optical illusion. Of course it will be the angle at which F. D. R. slants it—or it could be that everything connected with the White House, including tenancy, just seems longer.

I will admit, frankly, that I was as mistaken as the rest of humanity. I imagined it was the longest cigarette-holder in existence. In fact there have been times, watching it pointed skyward, when I would not have been surprised if a bugle had sounded and a flag been suddenly run up to it.

Being an avid follower of the cartoonists, I accepted the common misconception that the gadget was sesquipedalian. Oh boy, am I showing off! Sesquipedalian means a foot and a half and should not be confused with that thing they had in Philadelphia in 1926, which was the sesquicentennial.

If you want to know where I got this absolutely inside stuff, I got it from Mr. Tom Blake, of the White House secretariat. So there is no use arguing you have seen pictures of Mr. Roosevelt and know different.

Of course, if you wish to go around believing your own eyes instead of Mr. Blake you are at liberty to do so. But I warn you it will mean being dropped by the Blakes socially. Mr. Blake has an unaccountable allergy for people who doubt him.

played in the original "State Fair" has been inherited by Charlie Winninger in the repeat at 20th Century-Fox. Perhaps the new technicolor musical shouldn't be referred to as a "repeat" since it's in technicolor with many changes made in the old plot. This is Winninger's fifth year in show business.

NELSON-KEDDY'S fan mail still stays way up there—which brings up the always interesting debate: Do the people who write letters also buy movie tickets? Given the right picture and co-star there's not much argument about Eddy's being a definite draw, so it will cheer the jennies who write him to know Nelson has signed to star in a picture based on Rudolph Friml's operetta, "Swan Song." Co-producers are Angela Stuart and Edward H. Griffith and it's scheduled to start Jan. 15.

SIDE LINES: Somebody stole Linda Darnell's small electric refrigerator. "I don't mind the refrigerator being taken," means Linda, but there were two pounds of butter in the darned thing! . . . Groucho Marx received a letter from the War Department that his son, Arthur, has arrived safely overseas. . . . It's a careful note, indeed, that Lorraine Rogman, whose husband was killed in the Lisbon crash, and who was herself laid up for weeks with severe leg injuries, is well enough to resume her dancing career. It's enough to make you believe in miracles. . . . Louise Albritton should get some popularity prize for this idea. She's starting a movement for gals to bring along their own cigarettes on dates.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: An attention-getting quartette at Charlie Fox's: Artie Shaw with Ava Gardner and Pat Dane and Tommy Dorsey. They must all be on the wagon because nothing stronger than a coke was served at the table; Ann Sheridan, back in town, refusing to confirm or deny that Steve Hannagan is on his way here. Ann has informed Warners she doesn't want to do a musical and "Calamity Jane" will probably be her first; Lynn Sherwood, back in town, former fiancée of Red Skelton, have become boon companions and play tennis every day; Chico Marx is taking "shots" to go overseas. He'll be with a troupe of 10 ladies; Robin Raymond, in 20th's "Morris in Washington," is divorcing Paul Phillips, local war plant executive; Kathryn Grayson has had word her husband, Lt. John Shelton, is with the Signal Corps in the South Pacific. He never gave permission for her divorce suit, and from letters they are exchanging it may be a permanent reconciliation.

By George Dixon

ing Mr. Roosevelt against a dastardly and unfair attack.

I am constantly doing things like that because a fellow at OWI told me I must always uphold the Commander-in-Chief. Naturally, I would feel better if Mr. Roosevelt would show a little gratitude now and then, such as tossing me an occasional Cabinet post, but I suppose it just hasn't occurred to him.

The attack came in a letter from Mr. Homer Joseph Dodge, who is often known as Homer Joseph Dodge, and no wonder he resents it. Being an old-world type—and I sometimes wish he would go back there—Mr. Dodge begins his missive:

"Dear Gossipy:

"The War Production Board has contended that the production of cigarette holders of a proper length to be of any avail for an individual who uses them to keep smoke out of his eyes whilst smoking your column.

"The President seems to be the only person adequately supplied with holders of the proper 7-inch length. Eight inches or six inches would do in a pinch but seven gives the right balance.

"I hold it to be a better thing that I, who have used 7-inch holders long before I ever heard of this Mr. Roosevelt, should now—through the machinations of the War Production Board—be deprived whilst he remains well supplied.

"While I prefer new ones I would accept second hand White House holders. Heaven knows we have to accept enough used Democrats!

"On the eve of Pearl Harbor I had a few supplies, but my last one is eaten through. To be sure, I have presented a number to fair ladies and other admirers but, from whatever cause, I am bereft. Here, my dear gossipy, is an opportunity for you to rally round."

WELL, I do not like Mr. Dodge not upholding the Commander-in-Chief, but I was afraid he might have something. So, in my desire to defend Mr. Roosevelt, I called WFB.

A lady who said she was Miss Nieberg said the WFB had not put any length limitation on cigarette holders.

"But I understand the manufacturers aren't making the long ones because they wish to save material," she added. I called up a number of

Boston After Dark

BOSTON'S CIGARETTE SHORTAGE is not yet as acute as the dearth of smokes in New York. . . . East Side hotels are sold out before most of their customers are out of bed in the morning. . . . But there seems to be butter enough in the metropolis. . . . It is unsafe, however, to entrust an automobile to many of the parking lots in Manhattan, or for that matter to many garages. . . . A car with half a tank of gas is considered prey for the siphoners who hose out more than half the contents of the tank on the theory that the crime is unprovable. . . . Transients in New York are vowing vengeance on the hotel clerks. . . . Their arrogance is beyond belief, and their avarice disgusting. (Not all of them, of course). . . . Even second rate hotels are now demanding that patrons sign releases for rooms after one night's occupancy. "Protection" is the reason given. Protection against alleged long lists of reservations. . . . In far too many cases, the "protection" is of the "squeeze" being put on the guest by the hungry clerks. . . . A two-dollar bill will "protect" the room, the customers are finding out. And sometimes a one-dollar bill is enough. . . . Try the smaller sum first anyway.

THREE DAYS AFTER the event inquires kept arriving on the failure of three Washington scribbles (Krook, Stokes), and one magazine editor to enumerate the Communist issue as one of the important issues of the coming election. . . . The three writers and the editor were the principals in a Saturday Night forum which sought to identify the issues which may be important in deciding the battle of ballots. . . . The Political Action Committee activity similarly was unrecognized as a definite campaign issue by any of the quartet of forumers. . . . I wager that none of the Krook, Pearson, Stokes, triumvirate would be so lacking in discernment if the assignment came from his new scribe "or newspapers". . . . As a plain fact, New York skips over the foreign policy issue in admitting that the Political Action Committee Communist link with the New Deal, is a chief factor in the election in the Empire State.

"BLOOMER GIRL" is now the No. 1 "licker" in the New York ticket agencies. "Oklahoma" relinquishing the lead after holding it a full year. . . . "I Remember Mama," recently in Boston, is building into a hit. . . . The new owners of the Hudson Theater, in 4th St. are Howard Lindsay, Russell "Buck" Crooze, and Elton Nugent, all writers and directors. . . . Hollywood casting agents see Basil Rathbone as the ideal "thief" for the rash of Spanish main pictures which now threatens the country's movie-makers. . . . Basil, however, has the colic in his ribs with his wife's ends as a practical heavy. . . . He hasn't the chest for those buccanering costumes, they say. . . . you might have fun watching for the costume department's dexterity in covering up the defect.

THE MARVEL of inveterate tourists to New York is the cleanliness of the streets. . . . Bill Carey's department of Sanitation is the answer. . . . The one-time boss of the United Square Garden, a successful engineer long in the millionaire class, is a great municipal executive. . . . Happy Felton opens at the Fox and Hounds' Rhumba Casino tomorrow night. . . . It marks the adoption by Eddie Lewis of a "name" policy for his cozy, attractive joint.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—The motto of this column is: No Electioneering: Between Here and the Polls, but things in my set have come to such a pass that today I cannot refrain from a brief essay on the mustache, specifically the mustache of the Hon. Thomas E. Dewey.

SOME of my best friends are New Dealers and I have observed that in heated political discussions (when I say heated I mean that at almost no party this season has it been necessary to touch a match to the logs in the fireplace, even on the chilliest autumn evenings), the chief detractors of Mr. Dewey, having exhausted the arguments on foreign policy, labor, agriculture and the postwar world, invariably wind up by exclaiming petulantly: "But that mustache! How could you vote for a man with a mustache!"

As a girl who cannot be kissed by a mustachioed man without giggling fit to be tied, I definitely belong to the group which prefers the masculine facade clean-shaven and let it go at that.

Therefore I feel that no one can justly accuse me of being a blindly prejudiced handbar- lover if I say that I don't dig the connection between the mustache and the ballot box. What are you kids voting for, the puss or the polio?

I CAN CALL to mind quite a few fellows who have done rather well in various fields despite mustaches of the toothbrush, misplaced eyebrow, waxy or even waxy variety. Anthony Eden is one. He goes for the neat, old-school tie, how-the-British-can-you-get type, but it hasn't hurt his foreign policy a bit. And take a gentler case, J. Stalin, who wears the nearest thing to a full walrus between Moscow and Life With Father.

Clark Gable's mustache never seemed to make him repulsive to the girls, and in my neighborhood Ronald Colman was considered quite attractive.

Doughnut Time

By MARTHA LEE

FROSTY AUTUMN evenings are filled with friendly warmth when a basket of golden brown doughnuts and nippy apple cider become a part of an evening's entertainment.

Sour milk doughnuts are especially inviting. They are delicately tender, thanks to sour milk, and extra fragrant, thanks to a bit of nutmeg. Not to be overlooked are their good nutritional ingredients—enriched flour with its B vitamins, eggs with their vitamin A, plus energy-yielding sugar so needed these chilly days.

SOUR MILK DOUGHNUTS

3 eggs 1½ tsp. soda
2 cup sugar 1 tsp. salt
2 tbsp. melted shortening
½ cup sifted enriched flour
1½ tsp. cream of tartar
½ tsp. nutmeg

1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar gradually, beating well. Add shortening. Sift together flour, soda, cream of tartar, salt and nutmeg. Add flour mixture to egg mixture alternately with sour milk or buttermilk. Roll out ¼-inch thick. Cut with doughnut cutter. Fry in deep hot fat (375 deg. F.) Makes about 3 dozen doughnuts.

The flavor of doughnuts may be varied in many ways. Nutmeg is the favorite spice, however cinnamon, cloves and mace are also popular. Flavors, such as vanilla, almond and lemon extracts, are added to the dough to enrich its goodness.

When rolling out the dough for doughnuts the pastry board is lightly floured. If too much flour is used the crust is bumpy and irregular. Therefore, in case the dough is too soft to handle, it is better to add more flour to the mixture rather than to roll out the dough on a heavily floured board.

Variations in doughnuts are not limited to the flavorings.

SOUR MILK DOUGHNUTS

and spices used in the dough. They may be dressed up with different coatings and frostings. Confectioners' sugar icing, chocolate and maple icings, finely chopped nut meats or powdered sugar are just a few of the many variations to add taste appeal to freshly made doughnuts.

Serve doughnuts with mugs of milk or cocoa as a Halloween snack. Halloween with goblins is much fun when the evening's lunch means good eating. For a special treat, fry the doughnut "holes" and ice them lightly with confectioners sugar icing. Decorate each plump round with a comic face made with colored candies, raisins, or currants.

MOLASSES DOUGHNUTS

5 cups sifted enriched flour (about) 1 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. salt ½ cup sugar
1 cup molasses
1 tsp. baking soda
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
1 tsp. shortening, melted

Mix and sift 2 cups flour, soda, salt and ginger. Combine egg, molasses, sour milk and shortening; add flour mixture, stirring until well mixed. Then add enough flour to make dough of proper consistency to roll; turn out on floured board and

Beauty

IT'S NOT FOR NAUGHT that Lauren Bacall has been dubbed the "kissinest" gal of pictures... Those eyes... that mouth... that face... and THAT HAIR... so tawny, sleek and glamorized to the apex of perfection... with its shoulder-length softness and highlighted brilliance. So... if you're still sporting vacation hair, faded and streaked... take a leaf from this Warner starlet's book... and "give" to your tresses.

roll ¼-inch thick. Cut with floured large cutter, then with smaller cutter to make circles; twist into figure eights. Fry in hot, deep fat (360 deg. F. to 370 deg. F.) for 2 to 3 minutes, or until lightly browned; drain on unglazed paper and dust with sugar. Makes 3 dozen doughnuts.

GRAHAM CRACKER DOUGHNUTS

1½ cups sifted flour
½ tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt 2-3 cup sugar
1 tsp. nutmeg 1 egg, beaten
1½ cups finely rolled graham cracker crumbs 2-3 cup milk
2 tbsp. shortening

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg; stir in rolled cracker crumbs. Cream shortening; add sugar and egg, beating thoroughly; add flour-crumbs mixture alternately with milk. Turn out on floured board and roll ¼-inch thick; cut with floured doughnut cutter. Fry in hot, deep fat (360 deg. to 370 deg. F.) for 2 to 3 minutes, or until lightly browned; drain on unglazed paper and roll in powdered sugar, if desired. Makes 2 dozen doughnuts.

A Jabot Has Been Added

By BETTINA BEDWELL

GENERALLY speaking, skirts are a lot easier this Fall, easier to get around in, that is. And in my opinion a good deal easier to look at.

There hasn't been any easing up of regulations, as to the amount of fabric you can have in a skirt, but the designers have gotten clever about doing things with what they have. One thing they have done is to add a jabot to the super-slim skirt, a little addition that does a lot to make the skirt look good when worn by a lady with considerable flesh.

Miss Dulin has sketched one of these jabot, skirted dresses today. It was designed by that popular designer, Emmet Joyce, for Samuel Kass. Made of black crepe, the dress has a narrow draped skirt and the jabot is of gold-colored brocade having a small black design in it. It is set down the left side of the skirt. Jet and gold buttons fasten the simple waist.

Makes the Hair Healthy

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

OCTOBER MEANS color-stained leaves wood smoke, apple-bobbing and... open season on witches. We shouldn't have to tell you, of course, but witches... who snap their fingers at gas rationing and speed about on broomsticks... are a pretty terrible looking lot of females. For hundreds of years now... witches have been pictured... mostly by male artists, mind you... as terrifying gals who never... NEVER combed their hair.

Some of us... back at our desks... or on the job at home for ages... are still sporting "vacation hair"... sun-faded and streaked, yet still neglected.

October means everything we've mentioned... plus the fact that winter lurks around the nearest corner. Biting cold and artificial heating will further dry out your hair and make a well-groomed, sleek-looking head almost impossible for you.

HOT OIL SHAMPOOS PLUS BRUSHING

Why not spend the rest of this month helping your hair regain the health and resilience that will protect it later? If you haven't the time for salon or beauty shop treatments... give your hair oil-reconditioning aid at home. One such product... made by a famous firm of sister-specialists in hair and scalp care... is a reconditioning oil for hot oil shampoos... an oil-to-use luxury bath that leaves hair shining, soft and manageable.

Another thing... while it's still October... why not throw that broomstick of yours on the market? Swap it for a good, daily hair-brushing... and you'll look like an angel by Halloween.

Between the hot oil shampoos and the brushing... your hair will be reconditioned to such gleaming brilliance... and insuring health that we feel certain your facial skin will profit by the transformation.

For the name of the reconditioning oil for a hot oil shampoo, phone the beauty department, LIBERTY 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fashion

BIG BAGS are smaller for fall and winter... and Koret's Spanish comb pouch bag of non-smudge koretalope is a high-style silhouette. Wide bands of plastic shell form the closure like a high-flared Spanish comb. Draped on the plastic shell frame so that it folds into a graceful, medium-sized appearing bag, it is large and roomy, soft and feminine to carry with the new fashions. Double handles add to the interesting bag design.—R. M.

Cambridge JVA Buy More Bonds

Louis J. Tanno, commander of the 44th Junior Victory Army Corps, No. 43 East Cambridge, reports that each member of his corps is the proud owner of a War Bond now, and that some members have as many as four or five.

"We're doing many things for the war effort," he says. "Just lately we have collected over 60 pounds of waste paper and more than 13 pounds of rags which we sold to the junk collector. We collect waste fat too, and any money made from collections of this sort go toward buying more bonds."

He went on to say that he and the seventeen members of Corps 15 helped in the city-wide collection by getting a great deal of paper or scrap from their vicinity and one long pile at one central location, thus simplifying the task of collection for the city trucks.

They call on us whenever they have anything for collection and we take care of it," he reports. Daniel Pezinge is captain of the 44th Corps, most of whose members are on Gov. St. Anthony (Chia), whose father is now in the U. S. Navy, is sergeant of the corps, and Vincent Pezinge is corporal.

Recent JVA members, all of whom do outstanding work in war activities, are looking forward to given Tuesday, Nov. 28, in Revere City Hall, at which time many prizes will be given out.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army headquarters, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10 cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

73,000 to See Navy In Battle With Penn

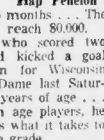

By JACK CONWAY

COLLEGE FOOTBALL is doing all right despite the war and the inroads made by the pro game. . . The Navy-Pennsylvania game, scheduled for Philadelphia on Saturday, will play before a sellout crowd of 73,000.

There will be 60,000 persons at the Notre Dame-Navy game in the Municipal Stadium, Baltimore, on the following Saturday.

The Irish clash with Illinois at Champaign on Saturday, and will show before a capacity crowd. . . The Army-Notre contest in the Yankee Stadium on Nov. 11 has been sold out for two months. . . The attendance will reach 80,000.

Hap Fenelon

Joe Girard, who scored two touchdowns and kicked a goal after touchdown for Wisconsin against Notre Dame last Saturday, is only 17 years of age. . . Like other 'teen age players, he is not sure what it takes to make the college grade.

Damon Runyon, famous sports writer who is recovering from a throat operation, gets his greatest kick out of meeting old friends who visit him at a New York hospital. . . Damon carries on his conversation with his visitors by writing his thoughts on paper. . . With typical Runyon humor, Damon says he does not write any statements when ladies visit him. . . He just bows. . . He says he found that many of what he like to call "the dolls" cannot read.

Runyon, with numerous magazine and movie hits, has made more money writing than any former sports columnist. . . His yearly income has been around $200,000. . . Gene Fowler, who was once Sports Editor of the New York Mirror, has earned over $150,000 a year writing for the past decade.

Pacific Coast Racing

THE SANTA ANITA racing meeting will set a new high for California. . . It is expected that with $100,000 for the Santa Anita Handicap and two $50,000 races, that Santa Anita will give Hollywood Park a merry battle for top billing in winter racing news.

Johnny Pollard, who won with Red Ted, for a mutual payoff of $50.40 at Rockingham, won last year's turf fame by his victory with Seabiscuit in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. . . Voucher, who was fourth in the race won by Red Ted, was flying in the last part of the race. . . Voucher was jumped in with other horses, and Jackey Claggett found difficulty getting him clear. . . With only 40 yards to go, Voucher got to the outside and might have won if the race had been a hot hand. . . Lou Smith speeded up the races with the result that racegoers were on their way home before 5:30 p. m. . . The post time for the eighth race was 5:10 p. m. and the horses were off a few minutes later. . . This same policy will be followed for the remainder of the Rockingham meeting. . . Those fans who returned to Boston by train from Lawrence were in this city at 6:30 p. m.

Lou Smith has come up with another of his brand new promotional ideas. . . This time it is a race in which oldtime jockeys will try to do their magic again.

Strong Man of Racing

EDWARD J. (Hap) Fenelon of Westerly, R. I., state steward in Rhode Island, has done much to help re-establish confidence in Rhode Island racing. . . Hap may be relied upon to make recommendations that will correct any existing evils. . . For years he has been the strongman in Rhode Island racing. . . At a time when racing is under fire in Rhode Island Gov. A. Howard McGrath is fortunate to have a man like Fenelon on the job at Pascoag and supervising the running of the races.

Fenelon is at Narragansett Park and Pascoag during racing meetings representing the interests of the state in the running of the races. . . He has a better knowledge of racing than any other Rhode Island official. . . He is honest and capable, and Gov. McGrath is fortunate he is able to turn to Hap at this time for help and advice on racing situations.

Fistic Pitter Patter

LULU Costantino, New York featherweight, will arrive in Boston tomorrow to finish training for his 10-round bout with Larry Bolvin of Providence that will be held at a Callahan A. C. show at Mechanics Building, Thursday night. . . Costantino has given Willie Pep more opposition than any other featherweight.

Bolvin will give Costantino a real test. . . Larry almost won from Nanel Ortiz, Mexican featherweight, in their bout at National League Park last summer. . . In the eight-round semi-final, Gene Boulton of Providence will collide with Soldier Johnny Ryan, Jimmy Doyle, who will make his Boston bow against Leo Duhamme of Worcester at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on Friday night, looks like a ring corner. . . Jimmy McDaniels of California, who takes on Billy Fardiglione of the North End is one of the best of the welterweights.

Grange Record Periled by Young

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 24 (AP)—The 20-year-old touchdown record of Harold (Red) Grange at Illinois is in imminent danger of being shattered.

Grange scored 13 touchdowns in 1924, including four in 12 minutes against Michigan.

In six games this year Claude (Buddy) Young, national sprint champion, has raced for 10 touchdowns, Illinois has four more games.

HC and BC in Twin Bill; Why Not HC-BC Alone?

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Do you like that Harvard-Holy Cross, Tufts-Boston College round robin idea proposed by the sportswriters? The teams to play two periods, the winners, to meet in the day's waning light? The day would be Nov. 18, proceeds to go to United War Fund.

A noble idea, is it not? Only trouble is that it might have been proposed too late. Here's why:

Holy Cross recently committed itself to play Sunday, Nov. 19, the Naval Torpedo School from Melville, R. I., a team that will feature Harvard's Torbert Macdonald and B. C.'s Steve Levantis among others. H. C. isn't likely to go back on its word to Melville. Only other date it could offer is Nov. 25, and, strangely, Holy Cross has been saving that date for Boston College—if and when.

And why not? H. C. is no heavier than B. C. It wouldn't be the "unequal" match some would have you believe. It has been pointed out that Jim Cahill, star halfback at B. C. last fall, is only third string at H. C. Therefore, no contest.

That doesn't check. Cahill is second (not third) string at H. C. only because he doesn't pass. H. C. fits the men to the system, not the system to the men. Now that Sheridan is on hand to do the passing Cahill's talents may be observed. Yet he's still the hardest running back at H. C.

For that matter there's a tackle at the Heights yelet Bill McCarthy (Medford) who was a regular on Sarno's "informals" last fall. And now McCarthy, with a year's full experience, ranks behind tackles Barrett, King, Lawler, all newcomers. Does that prove anything?

Now take the Brown-H. C. game. Rip Engle's boys outstretched H. C. all along the route, had the winning touchdown on the one-foot line at game's end. All right, B. C. scrimmaged Brown before it faced Harvard, when B. C. had only a few weeks' work behind it. Do you want to know what happened? Brown won by a 4-2 touchdown margin, as was to be expected at the time, but novice B. C. gained more ground against Brown than did H. C. last Saturday.

From the jobs this writer has taken about the game, one would think he were "cutting himself in" on the receipts with Fenway Park's Bill McCarthy.

That isn't the case, as intimates know. But there are TWO reasons why he'd like to see the game played: (1) It might give Moody Sarno a chance to lift himself from the "informal" ranks to that of big-time coach. He has all the earmarks of such. And (2) there are a number of Grade-A baseball players at the Heights — pitchers Lefty Ed Walsh from Cathedral and no-hit John Buckley from English, third baseman Bob Begley from B. C. High and outfielder Bob Elliott from Belmont to name a few.

Don't these boys deserve a chance to play baseball in the spring? Well, they won't get it

Trojans Kill Hopes Of Huskies for Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—Southern California was at its best Washington—well, the Huskies couldn't have been worse—and 70,000 spectators will attest that the Trojans' 38 to 7 victory just about represents the comparative strength of the teams.

Washington, unbeaten, untied, lost its chance to get a Western bid for the New Year's Rose Bowl game under a crushing Southern California attack last night, a diversified assault on the ground and in the air that disorganized and eventually routed the Huskies' defense.

A 30-yard punt return in the first period by Gordon Gray, arc Trojan back, started the rout, and a 45-yard zig-zagging run by the same boy in the third quarter were the highlights.

Gray, playing his last game for the Trojans, drew this praise from his coach, Jeff Cravath, himself an all-Pacific coast center in his day: "He ranks with our all-time backfield greats, and that goes for Morley Drury, Gaius Shaver, Orv Mochler, Erny Pinkert and all the rest."

Coast Loop Extends Season to 200 Games

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—The next Pacific Coast league baseball season will be 200 games long, instead of the 179 games played this year.

League directors have voted to open for business March 31 and close Sept. 23. They also have decided to propose to the National Baseball Ass'n that all players drafted from an AA league, such as the coast circuit, should fetch $15,000, instead of the present price of $7500.

BARRIE VS. DEMERS

Jean Barriere, Montreal, will try to make it two straight over Pat Demers of Brockton in the feature bout of 10 rounds at the Bristol Arena, New Bedford, tonight. In that last encounter, Barriere won by a technical K. O. when the Brockton ringster suffered a cut eye.

Strack Meets Pat Schaeffer

Out to break Pat Schaeffer's winning streak of two straight matches, Charlie Strack will wrestle Schaeffer tonight in the feature bout of Al George's wrestling show at the Mechanics Building. Schaeffer won a decision over Strack two weeks ago when the former Oklahoma A. and M. football player was disqualified for slugging.

Strack will go into the ring weighing 228 pounds, giving him a 12-pound advantage over his opponent.

Al Staples of Dedham will grapple with a mystery wrestler, Joe the Giant Killer, in the semi-final, and the preliminaries bouts will include matches between Bill Walters of Cleveland, O., former professional football player, and Tony Gaudett of Canada, and Wally Mitchell of Lawrence vs. Bill Rudy of Portland, Me.

Wild Bill Dolan will referee.

unless B. C. plays H. C. in football. B. C. had no team last spring, whereas in previous years it always was a topnotcher in baseball.

A third reason, and perhaps not the least important, is that the B. C. players themselves want the game, not only want it but believe they can win it. And isn't that as it should be?

One other thought: If BC and HC are considered for the round robin, they might possibly meet in the final. So what objection could there be to playing a game between themselves?

Helpless rage swept up in him because he was suddenly sobbing now and could not stop. He was prone to pieces in spite of himself: he was breaking up as if before his own eyes, entirely apart from and beyond his own control or power to stop it.

Somebody was at the door. Then there was a silence in which he listened too. The doorknob turned again and a key was put in the lock. The door opened and there was Helen and Dave. But only for a moment.

Helen turned, "That's all, Dave. Thank you very much. You can go now." Dave tried to peer around her into the room but Helen quietly closed the door and came in.

Newspaper Bowling League Standing

A new star was born—or maybe it was just swamped in the backwash of the bigger grid powers—on the Monday marathon of rained out football games and the newcomer to the big time is Saugus.

The Sachems have arrived by virtue of their upset victory over Melrose and from the looks of the coming schedule Saugus will be the top team in Class B on Thanksgiving night.

Coach Dave Heagy has a real powerhouse. The line averages only 171-light for competition it has met and tipped over its undefeated streak. And the backfield, the hardest driving quartet seen this season, is unbelievably small, tipping the scales at only

But size apparently means nothing to this crowd. The way they tore apart the Melrose team was little short of murder.

Usually the right side of the line is the strong side. But not here. It was the left side, ordinarily the weak side, that did all the damage. Tune after time Frank Pyszko and Bob "Killer" Kane tore through for long gains and it was through that side that Kane romped ten yards for his touchdown.

Dick Allen, a 200-pounder, was the battering ram. He mowed down the opposition and a truck could have gone through the hole.

HARD DRIVING BACKFIELD
But that backfield defies description. Frank Pyzsko was the sparkplug. He carried nine times out of 10 and when he wasn't lugging he was throwing teeth jarring blocks.

Kane, thought to be just a regular fullback good for those extra two yards, fooled everybody with nifty long runs and some bowled-up stepping. But to the others, entirely overlooked because they don't run, Charley Sampson and Bruce Wright, blooded with the force and finesse of BC's Trzebowski.

Now that it's by its biggest stumbling block Saugus should breeze through the rest of its schedule and capture Class B laurels.

Six other lads stayed in the underdog class after the weekend's play but a few had very tight squeaks.

Peabody and Salem were the first to eke by in their Sunday games but the other four made it quite easily yesterday.

It was a tight interval, a desperation pass in the last minute of the game to beat Lynn English

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—

Crispin Oglebay's Price Level, regarded as one of the top two-year-old fillies of the year, sped to a half a length victory today in the $10,000 Autumn Day Stakes, feature of the Empire City's opening card of a 12-day fall meeting at Jamaica before 22,950.

Price Level's victory boosted her earnings for the year to $38,692. She ran the six furlongs in 1:12 3-5 and paid $4.90.
